COUNTY

ORDINANCE

Summer 2023

Though not a legal document, this guidebook is intended to provide a quick reference of the St. Louis County laws and regulations that affect everyday life in our subdivisions and neighborhoods. Please be aware that these entries are only summaries and that for a complete version and understanding of any laws in St. Louis County, the actual ordinance should be consulted. St. Louis County ordinances can be viewed online at:

https://library.municode.com/mo/st.louis.county/codes/code_of_ordinances

Not all of the guidebook entries will have an ordinance citation. These entries are not ordinances but are St. Louis County policies and should be abided by in the same manner. In addition to providing a reference of St. Louis County laws and regulations, this guidebook is designed to assist trustees and residents in finding information. Every effort has been made to include correct phone numbers and email addresses for various issues. It is also important to note that many issues can be addressed using the St. Louis County Customer Service Portal. This allows citizens to request information and a variety of other services via an automated portal. The link to that service is located at: <https://csportal.stlouiscountymo.gov/>

Introduction

Purpose

The purpose of the Ordinance Guidebook is to provide a quick reference of St. Louis County laws and regulations that commonly affect everyday life in our subdivisions and neighborhoods. The Ordinance Guidebook is primarily targeted to subdivision trustees and neighborhood leaders in unincorporated areas who frequently deal with property maintenance problems, nuisance complaints, and other issues that have an impact on a community's appearance, safety, and environment. The Ordinance Guidebook, however, also includes laws that are enforceable throughout St. Louis County and may be of interest to municipal residents.

Background

The St. Louis County Department of Planning works with subdivision associations and subdivision trustees to help improve the quality of life for St. Louis County residents. Subdivision trustee services offered by the Department includes a Trustee Guidebook, Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs), and sample documents. Additionally, the Department maintains a voluntary database of trustee contact information. The Department of Planning is dedicated to developing documents and services that help bring government closer to St. Louis County residents.

Ordinances

St. Louis County has had a Home Rule Charter since 1950. Its current charter was passed by voters in 1979. All legislative power of the County is vested in the St. Louis County Council. The County Council is a seven member elected body which exercises its legislative power by the passage of resolutions, orders, and ordinances. Ordinances are laws adopted by the County Council and approved by the County Executive. Ordinances are created for the health, safety, and welfare of those who live, work, and visit in St. Louis County. Sections 2.080-2.130 of the St. Louis County Charter specifically describe how ordinances are passed. The County Council's Procedural Rules also provide information about the legislative process and are described on St. Louis County's website.

How an Ordinance is Passed

Ordinances can be introduced by an individual Council member or by the Council as a whole. An affirmative vote by a majority of the County Council is necessary to pass any ordinance, except as provided in the County Charter. All ordinances must be read at least once in open session of the Council either in their entirety or by title.

Typically, ordinances have three readings before they are finally passed. First, ordinances are introduced as a bill and given a title, number and the year introduced. Introduced bills are automatically placed on the Council's next regular meeting's list of perfected bills. During the perfection of bills, amendments to the bills may be adopted by majority (4) vote of the members present. The bill may be perfected by a majority (4) vote from attending Council members or placed on hold. Once perfected, the bill moves to the final passage of bills list for the next regular meeting.

Newly introduced or perfected bills may be advanced to the next reading at the current meeting if Council, by unanimous vote of all seven members, votes to do so. Amendments may be adopted by a majority vote of all seven members as long as the amendment is relevant to the original purpose of the bill. A bill amended while on the final passage list will remain on the list until the next regular Council meeting unless all seven Council members vote to consider final passage at that meeting. An ordinance finally passed is given a number followed by the year in which it was passed.

All ordinances passed by the County Council must be presented to the County Executive within five days. The County Executive must return the ordinance to the Council within 15 days with their endorsement or accompanied with objections. Generally, ordinances take effect 15 days after they are enacted unless a later date has been set. Ordinances for appropriation of funds, zoning, calling for an election, borrowing funds or fixing tax rates go into effect immediately upon enactment.

St. Louis County Ordinances and Subdivision Trust Indentures

St. Louis County ordinances are different from subdivision trust indentures. St. Louis County ordinances are public laws enacted by the St. Louis County Council. Subdivision trust indentures are private agreements between a subdivision board of trustees and homeowners in a subdivision.

NOTE: An ordinance violation is a county or municipal violation, but an indenture violation is a private matter. The necessary steps to prosecute an ordinance violation versus an indenture violation are described below.

Enforcement of County or Municipal Ordinance Violations

County or municipal ordinance violations are enforced in a variety of ways. Because ordinances regulate such a wide variety of issues and actions, they require a wide variety of enforcement systems. St. Louis County law enforcement officials enforce many ordinances relating to unincorporated areas and St. Louis County roadways including driving while intoxicated, assault, domestic violence, traffic, health, housing, and zoning violations. Residential ordinance violations, such as property maintenance violations, are enforced by St. Louis County Department of Public Works inspectors. The steps to prosecute ordinance violations generally include:

- Police officer, inspector, or other enforcement official, cites alleged violator.
- For property violations, an inspector prepares a notice of violation informing resident of violation and establishing time frame to remedy problem. If the problem is not remedied, a charge is filed in St Louis County Municipal Court.
- For non-property violations, a police officer, park ranger, etc., observes a violation and/or investigates a violation. The officer, etc., may issue a charge immediately, may effectuate an arrest, or may write a report and apply for charges to be issued at a later date by the prosecutor. Charges are sent to the St. Louis County Municipal Court or sometimes the St. Louis County Circuit Court.
- At court, the violator (defendant) either pleads guilty, not guilty, or guilty with an explanation.
 - If a guilty plea is entered, the judge will determine the disposition.
 - If a not guilty plea is entered, the case will be set for trial. Failure to appear for any court setting may result in a warrant being issued for the arrest of the defendant.

Enforcement of Indenture Violations

Subdivision indentures are private, contractual agreements and enforcement of violations, other than those that are also violations of County ordinances and so cited by government officials, are civil actions between the subdivision association or an individual property owner making a complaint and the property owner who is allegedly in violation of the indenture. Prior to seeking legal remedies against a homeowner, subdivision association and residents could consider Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR). ADR consists of a variety of approaches to early intervention and conflict resolution including arbitration and mediation. The use of a neutral, specially trained, third-party individual, such as a mediator, can assist disputing parties in resolving their disagreements. ADR may increase the parties' opportunities to resolve disputes prior to or during the use of formal administrative procedures and litigation (which can be very costly and time-consuming). If ADR is unsuccessful in resolving subdivision conflict, more formal legal measures may be sought. The steps to enforce indenture violations generally include:

- The subdivision association normally contacts the owner and informs them of the specific violation and provides a time frame for resolution.
- If the violation is not remedied, a civil action may be filed in Circuit Court. Possible outcomes include, but are not limited to, the judge issuing a restraint order, a temporary injunction (if immediate risk of injury is present or a dangerous nuisance is found), or a permanent injunction.

Using the Guidebook

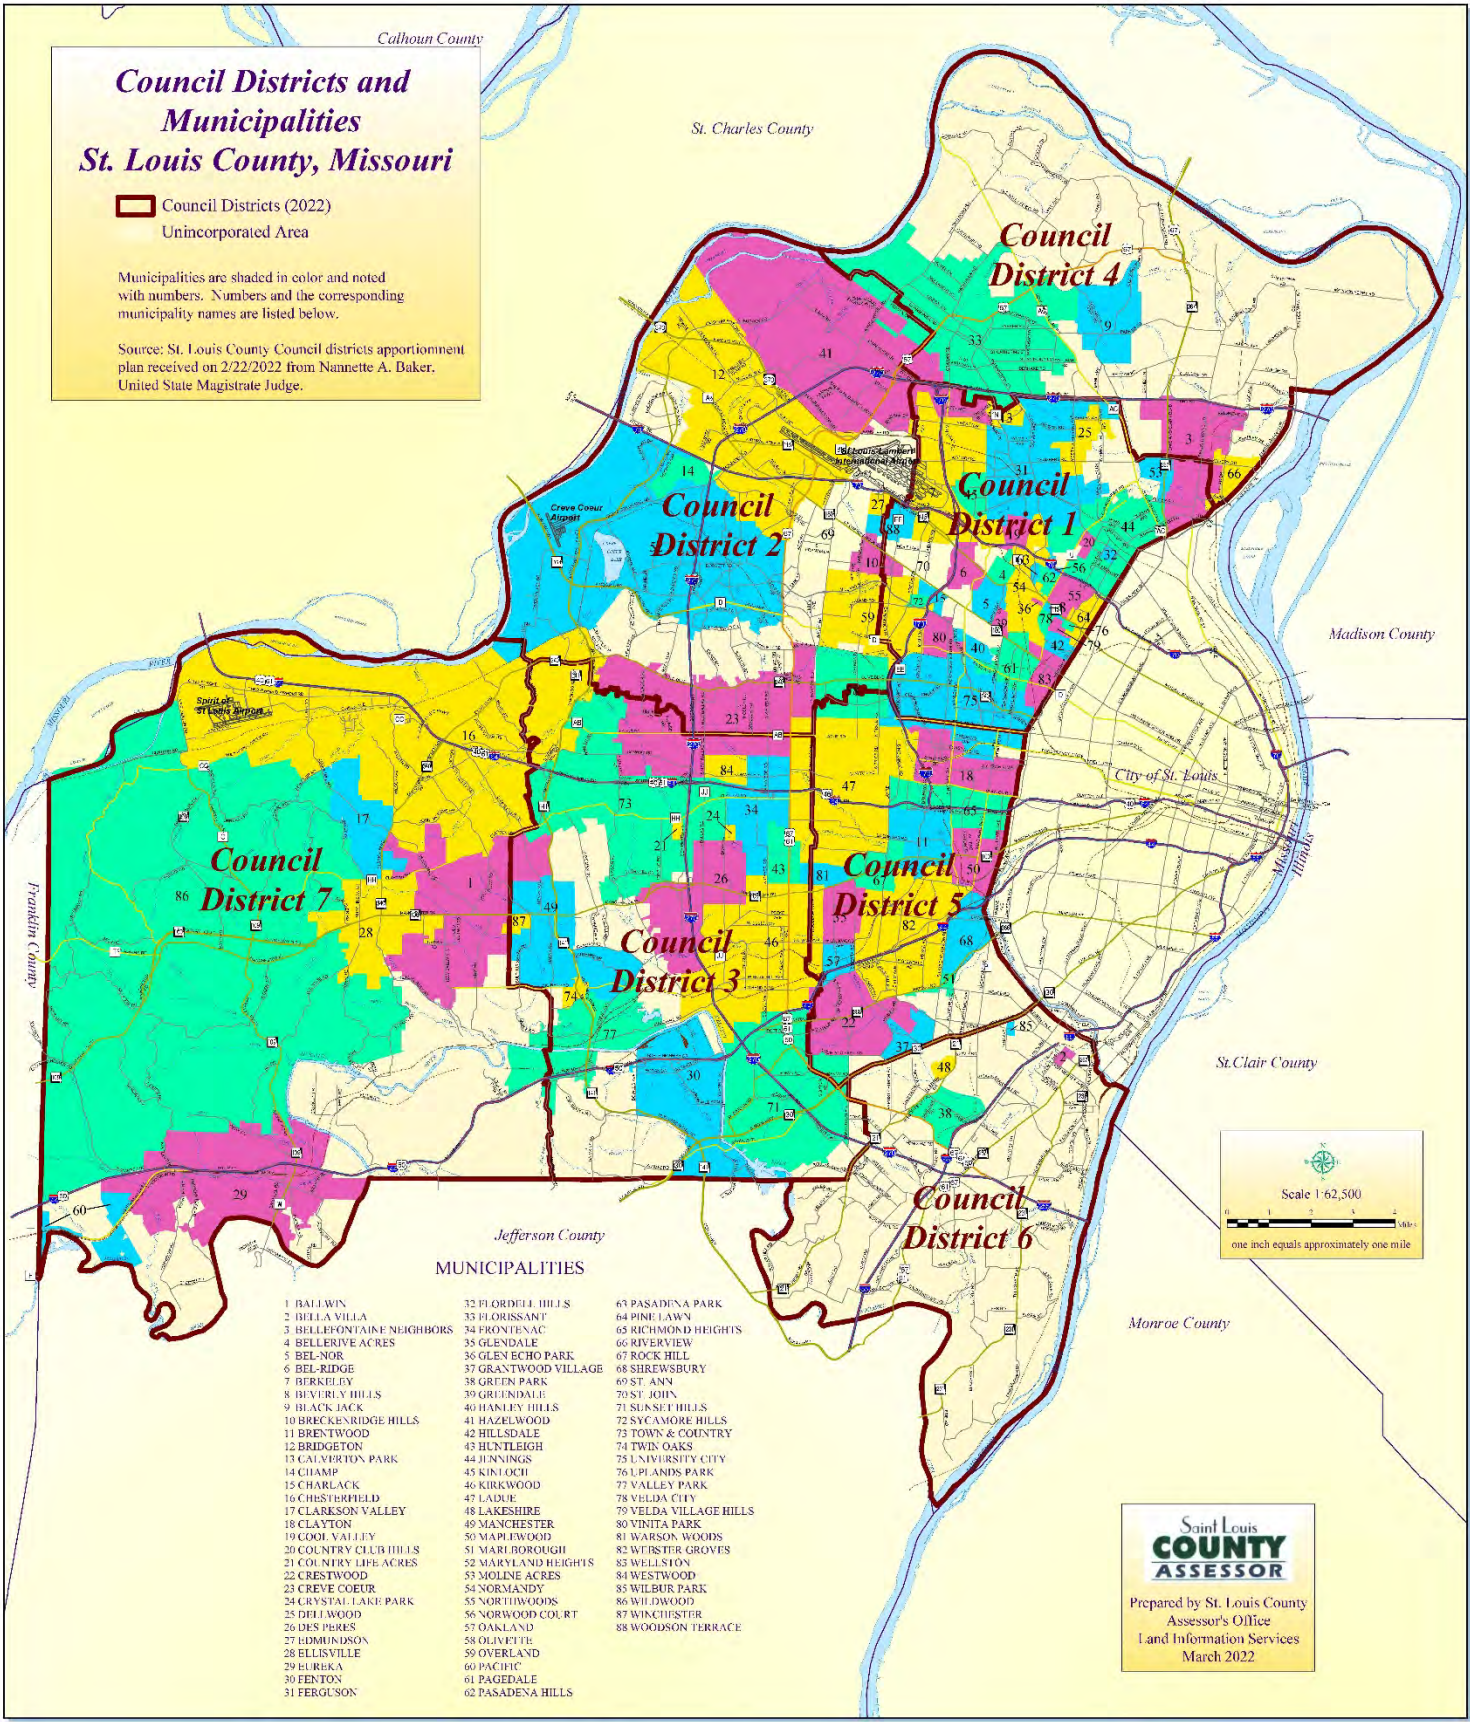

The Ordinance Guidebook is organized in alphabetical order by topic. The guidebook begins with the entry "Addresses" and ends with the entry "Zoning Review." After each entry is a common language description of the ordinance followed by the ordinance's citation. All St. Louis County Revised Ordinances (SLCRO) are available through the St. Louis County website at https://library.municode.com/mo/st._louis_county/codes/code_of_ordinances for example, SLCRO 1213.010 Vehicles on Roads To Be Licensed. After each ordinance citation is the St. Louis County department to contact for service or for questions. Not all of the guidebook entries will have an ordinance citation. These entries are not ordinances but are St. Louis County policies and should be abided by in the same manner. Many St. Louis County ordinances include consequences if they are not followed, including penalties and fines. This information is not specified in the Ordinance Guidebook. For specific details on penalties and fine amounts, readers are urged to refer to the official St. Louis County Revised Ordinance text.

Animal Control (Countywide)

The St. Louis County Animal Control officers enforce ordinances such as leash laws, vaccination requirements and registration of non-domestic animals. Animal Control officers investigate nuisance situations, research animal bite incidences, and assure the humane treatment of animals. Animal related nuisances include diseased animals at large, carcasses of animals not buried or destroyed within twenty-four (24) hours after death, or the keeping of animals or fowl close to residences, schools, hospitals or other public places. St Louis Animal Care and Control does not pick up dead animals. If the deceased animal is on a County roadway, please contact St Louis County Transportation and Public Works. If the animal is on a state-maintained road, please contact the Missouri Department of Transportation. If the animal is on a private property, you will need to call a carcass removal service.

Animal Nuisances Prohibited (Countywide)

A dog, cat, puppy, or kitten or any other animal creates a nuisance if it:

- Soils, defiles, or defecates on property other than property of a person responsible for the animal unless the waste is immediately removed and deposited in a waste container.
- Damages public property or property belonging to a person other than a person responsible for the animal.
- Causes unsanitary or dangerous conditions.
- Causes a disturbance by excessive barking, howling, meowing, or other noisemaking.
- Chases vehicles, including bicycles.
- Molests, attacks, bites, or interferes with a person or animals on public property or property not belonging to a person responsible for the animal.
- Impedes refuse collection, mail delivery, meter reading or other public service activities by annoying persons responsible for such activities.
- Tips, rummages through, or damages a refuse container.

Block Party (Unincorporated)

Subdivisions interested in having a block party must first submit a request through the St. Louis County Department of Transportation and Public Works in order to have their streets closed to traffic. It is suggested that neighbors in the area affected by the street closure be surveyed to ensure that no one has objections to the street being closed. If approved by the Department of Transportation, portable barricades with “Street Closed” signs will be provided, which will be required to be set-up just prior to the event and removed promptly after the event. Barricades can be easily moved to allow emergency vehicles or residents, if necessary, safely in or out of the affected area. If the closure is approved, the Department of Transportation and Public Works will send a confirmation and the date and time when the street closing barricades will be delivered. The Department of Transportation and Public Works will notify the County Police and local fire department of the street closure.

Bon Fires (Recreational Burning) (Countywide)

Bon fires, or Recreational Burning, are exempt from the St. Louis County and State of Missouri Open Burning rules. Prior to any type of recreational burn residents must contact their local fire protection district. Only clean, untreated wood may be burned, and the burn area is limited to sixteen (16) square feet. Bon fires must be monitored at all times and there must be a way to extinguish the fire readily available. The smoke, soot, or cinders of bon fires must not become a nuisance to any neighbors.

Building Codes & Permits (Unincorporated, Contractual)

When planning to add on to, reconstruct, or erect accessory structures to a home, homeowners should be sure that the changes will meet St. Louis County or municipal zoning and subdivision requirements. Homeowners should also read the subdivision trust indentures carefully. Often, indentures are more restrictive than municipal or county ordinances. To avoid private legal issues and maintain good neighborly relations, it is recommended that homeowners contact their subdivision board of trustees before making changes to their home. Neither the county nor the municipality has authority over an association's building or other deed restrictions if they are not in violation of county or municipal codes or ordinances. Municipal residents should check local requirements for building permits. In addition, any work within the public right-of-way of a County maintained road will require a Special Use Permit from the Department of Transportation and Public Works (See Special Use Permits). If the home is in unincorporated St. Louis County or in a municipality that contracts with St. Louis County for building permits, please refer to the following chart before starting a building project.

Building Permits are Required to:

Install/Construct:	A room in a basement
	Or relocate an interior wall
	A retaining wall over two (2) feet in height
	Or replace plumbing, electrical, or mechanical work
	A swimming pool
	An irrigation system
	An additional room
	A patio cover
	A residential attached/detached garage
	An attached carport
	A sundeck

Building Permits are Not Required to:

Install/Construct:	Pre-finished aluminum, steel, or other like materials to existing soffits, fascia boards, and overhangs
	Exterior ramps, stairs and/or steps, which are on grade (and not more than twelve (12) inches above grade, not attached to the structure, and within property lines. Portable (no foundations) wheelchair ramps providing access to private residences may be more than twelve (12) inches high when the ramp footprint area is one hundred and twenty (120) square feet or less and the ramp is located behind the front yard setback required by the County Zoning Ordinance or is located in the rear or side yard area
	Sidewalks and driveways within the property line (See Special Use Permits for drive approaches within County right-of-way)
	Paved areas for single-family residential use (such as parking spaces, shooting area for a basketball goal, etc.), on the same lot as the primary structure, without roofs, covers or enclosures
	Concrete patio slabs which rest directly on the ground or a rock base, provided they are not covered by a roof or canopy, are not supported by any type of permanent foundation, and are a maximum of twelve (12) inches above the finished grade

Bulky Waste, Residential (Countywide)

"Bulky residential waste" is non-putrescible waste that is too large or heavy to be safely handled by normal residential waste collection service. This category does not include automobiles and construction and demolition materials. Bulky waste must be stored neatly on the premises where it was generated unless permission to store it elsewhere is granted by an authorized individual. Bulky waste must be stored at least three (3) feet behind the main residential structure. Two bulky waste collections per year are to be provided to all residential 1 & 2 family dwellings as part of minimum level of service (see Trash, Collection of) with the exception of scrap tires and appliances such as refrigerators, washers, dryers, hot water heaters, etc.

Chickens (Unincorporated)

In unincorporated St. Louis County, residents are allowed to keep chickens on their property as pets, but may not breed them for sale or sell any of their byproducts (i.e. eggs). Residents who elect to keep chickens on their property must abide by SLCRO 611.210 and not allow the animals to become a public nuisance. Residents who live in a municipality must check with local ordinances before keeping chickens on residential property. Residents who live in a subdivision should check with their subdivision's indentures and by-laws for regulations concerning chickens.

Commercial Vehicles, Parking (Unincorporated)

Commercial vehicles weighing more than twelve thousand pounds (12,000) cannot be parked on a residential road or highway between 12:00 midnight and 6:00 a.m. of any day, except in an emergency. Tractors, tractor-trailers, or tractor trailer truck units cannot be parked on any residential road, except while loading or unloading. A standard sized van or pickup, even with commercial markings, is allowed to be parked in residential areas if it is used during regular business hours.

A commercial vehicle is any vehicle as defined in SLCRO 1202.010, or trailer that:

- Is designed or used, in whole or in part, for commercial purposes including but not limited to: construction, farming, landscaping, or mowing, or for the transportation of passengers, merchandise, equipment, supplies, tools, freight, vehicles, or animals, or;
- Has a gross weight rating or gross combination weight rating, or gross vehicle weight of twelve thousand and one (12,001) pounds or more and is not licensed as a recreational vehicle; or

- Is designed or used to transport more than eight (8) passengers (including the driver) or any non-ambulatory passengers for compensation; or is designed or used to transport more than twelve (12) passengers (including the driver) not for compensation.

Provided, however, that this definition of Commercial Vehicle does not apply to hobby or recreational trailers or vehicles, or service-bodied vehicles if such trailer or vehicle is not more than eight (8) feet tall (excluding antenna or roof rack), and not more than twenty (20) feet long, and not more than seven (7) feet wide (excluding wing mirrors and wheel wells shrouding a dual rear axle).

Common Ground (Unincorporated)

Common ground is the land in a subdivision set aside for open space, including storm water facilities, retention lakes, ponding, or recreational uses, conveyed in trust for the benefit, use, and enjoyment of the lot owners. Playgrounds and parks, as well as their access ways, are common ground areas in some subdivisions. Portions of the annual and special assessments are usually allocated for the maintenance and upkeep of a subdivision’s common ground. Typically, a subdivision record plat shows areas established in a subdivision as common ground and the subdivision’s recorded trust indentures provide for its maintenance by trustees.

Composting, Backyard (Countywide)

“Composting” is the biological decomposition of organic materials under controlled conditions. Residents who compost organic materials must locate the composting at least three (3) feet behind the main residential structure and use accepted methods to prevent odors, the harborage of rodents and pests, and the discharge of leachate (liquid) onto neighboring properties. Composting cannot be located in natural waterways or man-made storm water channels. Compost piles near property lines must be screened from view from adjacent neighbors and comply with municipal zoning regulations where applicable. Residents can compost leaves, grass clippings, other vegetative waste, vegetable scraps, etc. Items prohibited in composting include: meat scraps, bones, fatty foods (cheese, cooking oils, etc.), and pet waste.

Day Care, Home (Unincorporated)

Residents living in unincorporated St. Louis County may operate a day care home from their residence with a license issued from St. Louis County. A license is required for any person using his/her home to care for more than four (4) children, other than the children living on the premises. The day care provider must live in the home in which the day care is operated, have adequate play space outside, and care for no more than ten (10) children, including children related to the provider. A day care home must be located five hundred (500) feet or more, as measured between lot lines, from another day care home, as determined by the Director of Planning. Before a license is issued, St. Louis County will inspect the home, perform police record checks on persons over the age of eighteen (18) living in the home, and notify residents within three hundred (300) feet of the home. The provider must have a Missouri State License to operate a day care home. If a person cares for four (4) or fewer children, excluding their own, a license is not required from St. Louis County.

District Trash Program (Unincorporated)

In December 2006, the St. Louis County Council unanimously passed an ordinance establishing the authority to operate trash service districts and manage trash service contracts for unincorporated St. Louis County. St. Louis County established eight trash service districts and competitively bid the minimum level of service requirements (once a week trash, once a week curbside recycling, and twice-yearly bulky waste pick-ups) for unincorporated one- and two-family households with the exception of subdivisions whereby the majority of households chose to opt-out of the District Trash Program. District trash service began in the first district (District 3) in July 2008. The remaining seven districts (Districts 1, 2, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8) began trash service with the County authorized waste hauler in October 2008. Now, these unincorporated households receive more trash collection services at significant savings due to the competitive bidding process.

Easements (Countywide)

An easement is a property interest that allows the holder of the easement to use property that he or she does not own or possess. Easements are typically established for public utilities (gas, electricity, phone, TV, cable); storm sewer, sanitary sewer and water lines, surface drainage, and roads. An easement allows utility companies and government entities the right to access property to construct, operate and maintain facilities. Easements on a homeowner's property are typically the maintenance responsibility of the homeowner. Easements on subdivision common ground are typically the maintenance responsibility of the subdivision association. In most subdivisions, easements are platted. Subdivision plats can be researched by visiting the Recorder of Deeds' website and accessing a web-based application that allows for remote access.

Under St. Louis County ordinances, litter is defined as garbage, trash, refuse, junk, brush, inoperable machinery, or other waste material. Generally, people are prohibited from putting litter on any property, whether it is vacant or occupied, and whether they own the property or not. Property owners, or anyone in control of any private property, are responsible for keeping their property free of litter at all times. Litter generated on a property can be collected and stored in a sight-proof structure or container pending its removal or disposal. Storage of litter should not exceed seven (7) days before it is removed or disposed of, and storage should be screened from the view of adjacent property and rights-of-way.

Litter on Roadway (St. Louis County Roadways)

Littering on St. Louis County roadways is prohibited, and signage is not required for enforcement. Littering may pose a hazard to vehicles and people as well as obstruct the movement of traffic. The Department of Transportation and Public Works does not install signs carrying the message “No Littering” or any other messages of this nature on the public road right-of-way. If a person accidentally violates this ordinance, they will be held blameless if they immediately clean-up and clear the litter.

Noise Violation (Countywide)

It is unlawful to play any radio, musical instrument, television, or music players such as a “boombox,” tape cassette, or disc player at a volume that disturbs the peace of another person. This ordinance does not prohibit a lawful public concert or public performance. It is also unlawful to speak, shout, sing, or create any noise at a volume that disturbs the peace of another person. This ordinance does not prohibit calling for help in the case of an emergency. It is presumed that if the volume of the offending source is plainly audible to persons more than fifty (50) feet away from the source of the noise, a noise violation exists.

Paint, Chipping Lead-Based (Countywide)

In addition to being a property maintenance violation, chipping paint can pose a health hazard. Homes built prior to 1978 have the potential to have lead-based paint, particularly on the outside of the structure. As lead-based paint deteriorates, lead is released by becoming dust, chipping, or flaking and can unknowingly be ingested by humans. Parking (Unincorporated, St. Louis County Roadways)

It is unlawful to park a vehicle within eight (8) feet of a public mailbox, within fifteen (15) feet of a fire hydrant, within twenty (20) feet of a crosswalk, and within thirty (30) feet upon the approach of any intersection or within an intersection. In addition to these regulations, parking is prohibited on a sidewalk, on a crosswalk, in front of a public or private drive, any place where signs prohibit parking, or on any part of a road that obstructs emergency snow removal.

It is unlawful to park a vehicle in a private driveway, on a private parking lot, or on private property without the consent of the owner or other person in lawful charge of such driveway, parking lot, or property.

All vehicles, including recreational vehicles and boats, must be parked on a paved driveway. Vehicles permitted to be parked on a driveway in a residential neighborhood are cars, vans, pickup trucks, boats, campers, or other recreational vehicles typically used by a family.

Parking Signs, No (Unincorporated, St. Louis County Roadways)

The Department of Transportation and Public Works investigates the need for installing “no parking signs” in subdivisions at the request of the subdivision residents. To request a “no parking” sign, please contact the St. Louis County Department of Transportation and Public Works. For a parking restriction/prohibition to be established along a street, a petition signed by the affected residents on both sides of the street where the parking restriction/prohibition is requested must be submitted to the Department of Transportation and Public Works for review. The petition should state the location, by house numbers, of the proposed parking restriction/prohibition. Once a petition is received and validated, the Department of Transportation and Public Works may ask the County Executive to request legislation recommending that the County Council approve an ordinance to have the appropriate parking restriction/prohibition signage installed.

Pools, Private Residential Above-Ground (Unincorporated, Contractual)

The construction of an above-ground swimming or bathing pool which exceeds twenty-four inches (24") in depth or two hundred and fifty (250) square feet in area, or which is equipped with a water recirculation system, requires a building permit. If pool construction is proposed for a home in unincorporated St. Louis County or in a municipality that contracts with St. Louis County for building code enforcement, a building permit is needed before construction. Please follow these guidelines for above-ground pools:

- The pool must be protected on all sides by an enclosure at least forty-eight inches (48") in height, to prevent unauthorized visitors or small children from entering the pool area
- If the rear of the house wall is part of the enclosure barrier, the house doors must have audible alarms or be self-closing
- Before beginning construction, consider setback restrictions. For unincorporated households, contact the St. Louis County Zoning Review section at (314) 615-7807. Incorporated households should consider municipal government restrictions regarding setbacks
- All electrical work must be performed in accordance with St. Louis County codes and ordinances by a St. Louis County licensed electrical contractor
- For subdivision residents, check with subdivision trustees for any subdivision approvals or restrictions
- Check with the local fire district for any additional requirements which may apply

Pools, Subdivision (Unincorporated)

Public pools located within a subdivision are regulated by the St. Louis County Department of Public Health, Department of Transportation and Public Works, and the Zoning and Review Section and must adhere to the regulations and permitting process requirements. All costs and maintenance of a public subdivision pool are the responsibility of the subdivision as stated in the subdivision's trust indentures and/or bylaws.

A lifeguard is required wherever one (1) or more pools have a total combined water surface area of two thousand (2,000) square feet or greater within one (1) enclosure. A lifeguard must be always on duty at the poolside when the pool is open to use by swimmers. The lifeguard is empowered to supervise swimming and compliance with all rules of safety and sanitation pertaining to the pool. All lifeguards must be certified by an approved program.

By December 31, 2008, all public pools were required to comply with the federal Virginia Graeme Baker Pool and Spa Safety Act. This act states that public pool operators must install drain covers that meet 2007 ASME/ANSI A112.19.8 performance standards. These improved drain cover standards will help prevent suction entrapment hazards at public pools and spas.

Recycling (Countywide)

St. Louis County's Waste Management Code requires once-a-week recycling collection be provided to one- and two-family homes as part of a minimum level of trash service. In addition to recycling, the minimum level of service includes once per week trash collection and twice-yearly bulky waste pickup. All residential haulers licensed by St. Louis County Department of Public Health are required to provide these three (3) components whenever they provide trash service to any one- and two-family residence in St. Louis County. In municipalities, haulers may be exempted from collecting recycling from one- and two-family residences if the municipality provides a recycling facility and demonstrates that specific waste diversion rates have been achieved.

Retaining Walls (Unincorporated, Contractual)

A permit is required for any retaining wall that is constructed in unincorporated areas of St. Louis County and in municipalities that contract with St. Louis County for building plan review and inspection services if any of the following conditions are proposed:

- The wall exceeds three (3) feet in height. Height is measured from the top of the grade on the non-retained side of the wall to the top of the wall.
- The wall exceeds two (2) feet in height and supports a surcharge load (driveway, pool, or similar structure).
- The wall is located at a distance less than or equal to its height from the property line.
- The wall has a fence or guardrail on top of the wall and the total height of the wall from the lowest grade to the top of the fence/guardrail exceeds six (6) feet.

Retaining walls must be kept structurally sound, with no peeling or flaking paint, and no rusted or worn finishes. Proposed retaining walls within the public road right-of-way require a Special Use Permit.

Right-of-Way, Definition (Countywide)

A right-of-way is a parcel of land which has a specific private owner but allows for some other party or the public a legal right to traverse the land in some specified manner. Rights-of-way can either be public or private. A public right-of-way is held in the public's interest by the County, such as the right-of way dedication on a subdivision plat. A private right-of-way is held by an individual or entity. An example of a private right-of-way is when a homeowner uses a driveway over another person's property to enter or exit their own property.

Right of Way, Personal Property Prohibited on Public (Unincorporated, St. Louis County Roadways)

Personal property, including personal property involved in an eviction, cannot be placed on the sidewalk, roadway, or any part of the public right-of-way of a St. Louis County roadway, except for trash collection. In the event of an eviction, property may be placed by a person or entity with the right to possession of the property for a period not to exceed twenty-four (24) hours, after which the property is considered abandoned and must be removed from the right-of-way by the person who placed the property.

New trees are not allowed to be planted on a St. Louis County right-of-way, between the sidewalk and the curb.

Private streets must be constructed to St. Louis County standards, including the thickness of the pavement. When private streets are proposed for construction by a developer, a trust indenture or statement on the record plat must be recorded establishing the method for providing continuous maintenance to the streets and storm sewers. Maintenance of private streets is the responsibility of the surrounding property owners or subdivision trustees of the subdivision.

Roads, Publicly Maintained (Countywide)

Public streets are maintained by a municipality, St. Louis County, or the State of Missouri. For residents living in a municipality, local streets are most likely maintained by a municipal public works department. Unless designated a private street, streets in unincorporated areas are maintained by the St. Louis County Department of Transportation and Public Works or the Missouri Department of Transportation (MoDOT). State roads are maintained by MoDOT. Contact the St. Louis County Department of Transportation and Public Works for questions about street maintenance.

Sewer Lateral Repair Program (Unincorporated, Contractual)

The Sewer Lateral Repair Program (SLRP) covers the cost of repairing a defective residential sewer lateral in unincorporated St. Louis County and in some municipalities that contract with St. Louis County. The program began assisting homeowners with sewer lateral repairs on January 1, 2000.

The program covers the cost of:

- The portion of the residential sewer lateral that runs from the foundation of a house to the sewer main
- Repairing the excavated yard area with seed and straw
- Repairing pavement areas, which have been disturbed during the repair process

The program does not cover:

- Septic tank replacement or private treatment systems, but does cover the lateral piping from the foundation to the house side of the tank, and from outside of the tank to the drain field
- The cost to replace any trees, shrubs, flowers, sod, decks, decorative concrete, retaining walls, or out-buildings affected during the repair of the sewer lateral

Any work performed in the public right-of-way will require a Special Use Permit.

Sheds/Exterior Storage (Unincorporated, Contractual)

A building permit is required for the construction of all sheds larger than one hundred and twenty (120) square feet in size that are located in unincorporated St. Louis County or in a municipality that contracts with St. Louis County for building code enforcement. Information on obtaining a building permit for a shed is available at: <https://stlouiscountymo.gov/st-louis-county-departments/transportation-and-public-works/public-works-publications-and-manuals/pw-residential-guides/detached-utility-sheds/>

If your Municipality contracts with St. Louis County and you are proposing to do building interior or exterior work submit the necessary building plans and specifications to your Municipality to receive a Zoning Approval and get a copy of the Zoning Approval form to submit with your Building Permit Application.

The following are other helpful hints that should be considered when building a shed:

- Before deciding on the size and location of the shed, consider setback restrictions. For unincorporated households, contact the St. Louis County Zoning Enforcement section at (314) 615-2807. Incorporated households should consider municipal government restrictions regarding setbacks.

- For subdivision residents, check with subdivision trustees or subdivision indentures for any subdivision approvals or restrictions.
- Check with the local fire district for any additional requirements that may apply

Signs (Unincorporated, St. Louis County Roadways)

The following signs are permitted in any zoning district in the St. Louis County Zoning Ordinance:

- Temporary signs indicating danger.
- Public notices and legal notices required by law.
- Political campaign signs for candidates seeking political office and other pertinent data. The maximum area for any one sign is eight (8) square feet, with a total area of sixteen (16) square feet permitted for each lot/unit. These signs must be erected only on private property and removed within seven (7) days after the election for which they were made.
- Decorative displays used for holidays. The displays can be up no more than a maximum of thirty (30) days before and seven (7) days after the specific holiday.
- Temporary signs and pennants, fringe, lights, sound equipment or similar devices designed to attract attention are permitted only on private property and only in conjunction with the grand opening of a commercial establishment for a period not more than thirty (30) days, or with special promotions. The use of these devices for special promotions is limited to three (3) events for each business in a calendar year with a maximum time period of fourteen (14) days for each event. A sign permit is required for temporary signs for grand openings and special promotions. Temporary signs are only permitted in a Planned Commercial District if the governing ordinance permits them.

Small Loan Businesses (Unincorporated)

Small loan businesses, by definition, loan money to customers on a temporary basis, with the loan secured by post-dated check, paycheck or car title, or are registered as lenders under state or federal law. These types of businesses do not include a state or federally chartered bank, savings association, credit union, or industrial land company, nor do they include businesses where the cashing of checks or money orders is incidental to the main purpose of the business. Small loan businesses include, but are not limited to check cashing stores, payday loan stores, and car title loan stores.

Under St. Louis County's Zoning Ordinance since 2008, small loan businesses may be allowed by Conditional Use Permit in the "C-2" and "C-3" Shopping Districts and require a public hearing. Small loan businesses must be located at least one mile (5,280 linear feet) from any existing small loan business and 300 feet from any residence, school, or place of worship.

Snow Removal (St. Louis County Roadways)

When it snows, St. Louis County plows first remove snow and salt roads that are part of the St. Louis County arterial and collector road system, due to their importance in connecting people to emergency services and businesses. After these streets are cleared, snowplows begin to clear and de-ice subdivision roads. St. Louis County maintained routes should be addressed no later than twenty-four (24) hours after the conclusion of a storm.

During snowstorms, the Department of Transportation and Public Works asks for residents' assistance in parking cars off streets to allow plows easier access when clearing and to wait twenty-four (24) hours before calling to inquire about the status of snow removal.

Solid Waste Management (Countywide)

St. Louis County Department of Public Health's Solid Waste Management Program (SWMP) enforces the Countywide Waste Management Code which regulates the handling, storage, transportation and disposal of all solid waste. The SWMP also manages and develops programs that enable the County to conserve valuable natural resources, extend landfill life spans, reduce solid waste generation, and serve as a model solid waste management program for other counties nation-wide. The purpose of the SWMP is to encourage greater waste diversion and enforce proper solid waste management to protect the health and welfare of St. Louis County residents.

Storm Water Facilities in Subdivisions (Unincorporated)

Maintenance of subdivision storm water facilities is the responsibility of the subdivision and is essential for them to effectively serve their purpose. A malfunctioning system can become an eyesore, a nuisance, a health hazard, and compound the hazards of flooding. To prevent these problems, a subdivision board of trustees should:

- Review any improvement plans and locate the storm water facilities in the subdivision;
- Review the subdivision trust indentures and determine how much money can be collected from each homeowner for storm water management;
- Gather information about the maintenance of storm water facilities;
 - What has to be done and when?
 - Who can do the work?
 - What kind of equipment is needed?
 - What is the cost?
- Develop a plan for maintenance, which includes equipment and workers needed, maintenance schedules, costs and fundraising, and response procedures;
- Present maintenance plan to subdivision association for approval, highlighting the problems storm water runoff can cause, the problems that dumping in ditches and drains can cause, what has to be done and what it will cost to manage the facilities in the subdivision;
- Institute the maintenance program. It may be necessary to talk to an engineering firm with experience in storm water management, or the St. Louis County Soil Conservation Service, or another subdivision board of trustees to gather all necessary information. Some of the maintenance work may require the subdivision association to hire a consulting engineer and/or a contractor.

Street Light Districts (Unincorporated)

In unincorporated St. Louis County, street lights are provided and paid for in three (3) ways: by a trust account established at the time of subdivision creation, by individuals, or by street light maintenance districts. Organization of a street light maintenance district, authorized by state statute (RSMo 235), is a means of providing for the installation, operation, and maintenance of street lights in unincorporated St. Louis County. A street light maintenance district encompasses a specific geographic area and is administered by a three (3) member board of directors. If a community lies completely within unincorporated St. Louis County, has at least one hundred (100) voting residents, and would benefit from the addition of street lights, then it may consider organizing a street light maintenance district. Residents must first submit a petition to the St. Louis County Council. The petition is then presented to the County Council before a public hearing where it is voted on. If the County Council votes to establish the district, a vote is then presented to the residents of the proposed district. If a majority of the residents vote to establish the district, the County Council will then declare the district established. An election to establish a tax referendum then goes back to the district residents to establish a funding mechanism.

Street Lights (Unincorporated)

Prior to 1968, the St. Louis County Subdivision Ordinance did not require subdivisions to have street lights. Since then, any new subdivision has been required to have street lights as a condition of development approval. The cost of maintaining the street lights is typically borne by subdivision residents through homeowner fees. St. Louis County is not responsible for any cost or maintenance of subdivision street lighting. Street lighting in unincorporated St. Louis County subdivisions, including illumination standards, are addressed in the St. Louis County Subdivision Ordinance.

Teen Clubs (Unincorporated)

Teen clubs are entertainment establishments that cater to young people age 14 through 18 who are not accompanied by a parent or guardian. They may include but are not limited to teen nightclubs and teen dance clubs. They do not include publicly owned facilities, such as recreation centers, community centers, public libraries and public schools; or skating rinks. By ordinance, teen clubs are required to have a valid license issued by the St. Louis County Council. A teen club application is first reviewed by the Director of Revenue. The Director of Revenue makes a recommendation to the St. Louis County Council to grant or deny an application. The St. Louis County Council makes the ultimate decision on whether to grant or deny a teen club application. The teen club license is valid for one-year and must be renewed annually.

To be granted a license, a teen club applicant must pass a criminal background check, have a lighting plan for parking areas and all entrances and exits, and be in compliance with County health, fire, and/or building codes. In the case of a license renewal, the number and type of police calls related to the teen club will be considered. The St. Louis County Council may also impose special conditions on a license, including closing times, security requirements, notice to potentially affected neighborhoods, parking and pick-up areas, and identification of attendees. Teen clubs are required to have adequately trained and licensed security personnel, employees who have passed criminal record checks, and a ticket for an attendee's admission, without which a person cannot be admitted.

The Waste Management Code requires each residential premise that generates waste to have appropriate containers for trash, yard by-products, and recovered materials. Trash may be placed in galvanized metal, rubber fiberglass, or nonabsorbent plastic containers or one-time use plastic bags 20 to 35 gallons in size. Containers must be sufficient in quantity and size to hold the trash and be leak-proof, waterproof, fly-tight and properly covered. Containers, other than plastic bags, must have handles, bails, or other suitable lifting devices. The containers must be sufficient in quantity and size to hold all waste and recovered materials (except bulky, demolition, and construction waste) between the times the waste was generated and the time the waste was removed from the containers and the premises. Trash containers and their surrounding area must be clean, neat, odor free and sanitary. Water Service Line Repair Program (Countywide)

The Water Service Line Repair Program administers repair contracts on residential water service lines in unincorporated and incorporated St. Louis County. The program utilizes a $1.00 per month program fee, which is collected by the water service provider on the residential customer's water bill. The fee may be used for the repair or replacement of water lines extending from the water main to the residential dwelling, which are necessitated by a breakage in the line. The program contracts with County licensed Master Plumbers to perform the repairs on a per individual repair basis. The Water Line Repair Program’s role is to ensure compliance to the repair contract and to the “Rules and Regulations” and ordinances governing the program.

Yard Waste (Unincorporated)

Yard waste is defined as leaves, grass clippings, yard and garden trimmings, tree limbs less than six (6) inches in diameter, and Christmas trees. Yard waste is banned from landfill disposal and therefore cannot be collected with household trash. Yard waste must be stored in a container which conforms to the requirements of the waste collection service provider. The area surrounding the yard waste container must be kept neat, clean, odor free, and in sanitary condition. All licensed waste collection service providers must offer yard waste collection as an optional service.

Zoning Review (Unincorporated)

The Zoning Review Section of the Department of Transportation and Public Works reviews zoning regulations in residential areas of unincorporated St. Louis County. The Zoning Review Section also verifies flood plains, minimum lot size and setback requirements. Before beginning any construction project, verify the zoning of the property. This zoning verification/information will indicate that the property is properly zoned for the proposed construction and that the location of the structure is within the legal property lines. Common construction projects that require zoning review include the addition of sun-decks, swimming pools and attached/detached garages. For construction projects that require zoning approval, please refer to Building Codes & Permits.
